2. Provisional estimate of the amount of additional space which we could expect to occupy:

(a) within a year -

Eighteen full-time people working in 2,300 square feet of space represents extreme crowding. Beginning July 1/57, we expect to have two more clinical research assistants and must somehow find office space in which to accommodate them. With the research programme remaining approximately as at present, I foresee no other essential space expansion except for the extremely urgent need for larger animal quarters. In the event of our undertaking other projects, such as taraxein, additional laboratory space of
